ROME, Aug. 5.—Three more army divisions today were ordered mobilized for immediate service in East Africa, and Premier Mussolini called an additional two divisions to the colors for early duty on the Abyssinian front.

Coming as a new blow to League of Nations peace efforts, the conscription orders involved 72,000 men, making a total of 17 divisions, or well over 250,000 men, now in or assigned to Africa.

Announcement of the troop increases, stating that they were ordered in view of "the advanced mobilization of the Abyssinians," was taken as further indication that Mussolini will settle the dispute by no means other than force.

HARLEY B. COLWELL IS RETURNED HOME

Harley B. Colwell, retired men's clothing, was returned to his home on N. Court-st. Monday evening, from the Cleveland clinic where he has been a patient for six weeks.

His condition is reported much improved.

While in the hospital Mr. Colwell underwent a serious operation, but after being very low, has made a fine recovery.

ACTION INVOLVES TARTLTON PROPERTY

A partition suit involving a house and lot in Tartlton was filed in common pleas court Monday afternoon by Florence Mowery, Detroit, against Edith Grove, residence unknown, Clyde Grove, Detroit, Harry Grove, Cavite, Philippine Islands, and the Pickaway-co commissioners.

Mrs. Mowery is the daughter of the late Mary A. Grove of Tartlton and the petition states she and each of the Groves are heirs to an undivided one-eighth interest in the home. One half interest was decided the county commissioners by the late J. W. Grove, inmate of the Pickaway-co home. Ray W. Davis is attorney for the plaintiff.

UPTON SERVICE AT 10:30 A. M.

Bodies Arrive Tuesday Morning; Son to Arrive Today By Airplane.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Upton, former Circleville residents who were killed in an auto-truck crash Saturday night near Wanauch, Ind., arrived here at 11:40 a. m. today and were taken to the Orion King residence, W. High-st.

The double funeral will be held in the home Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. with the Rev. W. Newton Mantle of Mt. Sterling officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery by Mader & Elmer. The caskets were not opened.

Ralph W. Upton, a son of the Seattle, Washington, will attend the funeral coming to Columbus by airplane.

Pathbearers will be: C. A. Welton, D. V. Wright, R. E. Lilly, Edward Wright, Arthur Wilby, Paul Cronley, George Foreman and H. J. Sawyer.

Mr. Upton owned the nationally known safety slogan "Look and Listen" while he was safety lecturer for the Electric Traction company in Seattle in 1912. Mr. Upton was a former principal of Everett high school in 1896 and 1907. Mrs. Upton was born and reared in this county and a graduate of Everett high school.

The accident occurred while they were returning to their home following a month's visit with friends and relatives here.

WELDON LEASES SERVICE STATION

The Star Distributing Co. Inc. of Nashville, Tenn. has leased the filling station of N. T. Weldon on W. Main-st.

Berrodin Says County's Pension Payments Fair

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6.—Charging that average old age pension payments in the majority of counties, particularly the farming districts, were too high, Henry J. Berrodin, chief of Ohio's Division of Aid for the Aged, today prepared to begin a probe of awards in each county. Pickaway-co now has 674 pensioners on pension rolls.

The average payment in this county is $12.37, which Mr. Berrodin says is not too high compared to average awards in adjoining counties.

"The only way to eliminate abuse of discretion and political favoritism by county authorities," Mr. Berrodin said, "is to centralize complete control in the state organization."

ZENGE DENIES BAUER DEATH

Missourian Goes Into Felony Court as Woman Prepares To Face Grand Jury.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Mandeville Zenge pleaded not guilty to the embezzlement-murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer when he was arraigned in the felony court today.

Meanwhile, prosecutors were preparing to take Mrs. Louise Schaffer Bauer, his ex-fiance, before the grand jury to seek an indictment naming Zenge as her husband's slayer on a state count.

Although authorities denied that she had refused to cooperate, she was held in technical custody overnight. It was expected that she would be released after her testimony to the jurors.

Prosecutors declared today they have enough circumstantial evidence to place Zenge on trial, but admitted they wished to more firmly establish the motive.

With Mrs. Bauer and Zenge silent concerning the fatal love triangle, investigators turned to Kirkville and Canton in the hope of clearing up the case.

They have learned that Zenge was obsessed with the idea Dr. Bauer was mistreating his bride. But whether or not this obsession was based on fact or fancy they have not as yet been able to determine.

Letters to friends in Kirkville in which Dr. Bauer voiced suspicion of his bride have been uncovered and for these suspicions, police are seeking an explanation.

MAN WHO STARTED RUMOR LOSES JOB

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Aug. 6.—E. P. Cramer, the security-owning man who admitted suggesting a "whispering campaign" against President Roosevelt, said today that even though he had been fired from his job he still has "several irons in the fire."

Interviewed in his two room apartment here, Cramer was reticent but cheerful. Asked about his dismissal from the firm of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., of West Orange, he merely said:

"Yes, it's true. That's all the comment I have to make now."

Yesterday, however, he painted for reporters the pictures of a timid investor, fearful of losing the savings he had sunk in public utility securities. This had prompted him to write the Electric Bond & Share company, urging steps to wreck the New Deal, he said, and he made several suggestions, including the "whispering campaign."

Mrs. George Morris Taken at Daughter's

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in Springfield for Mrs. George Morris, 75, formerly of this city, who died Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Columbus.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Eli and Hannah Jones Faust, pioneer residents of Salt Creek-twp. She is survived by her husband, the daughter at whose home she died, one son, Ray of Springfield; three sisters, Mrs. Maudie Smith of Shadyside, Mrs. Oulah Lane of Columbus and Mrs. Elsie Bollenberger of Dayton.

Mrs. Morris was an aunt of Mrs. Fred Donnelly and Mrs. Jennings Turner, this city, who with Mr. Donnelly and Mr. Turner and family, Mrs. Maize Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Armond Pressler of Columbus were in Springfield Sunday.

The T. C. Gooley building in New Holland will be used for a display of antiques. All antiques offered must be at least 100 or more years old.

GENERAL MOTORS MARKET GOES UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A 33-minute delay in the opening of General Motors common stock was the outstanding stock market response today to the corporation's surprise dividend increase late yesterday.

The governors of the stock exchange were called in to arrange a price due to the huge orders on the specialists' books, and the opening price was finally arranged at 10:33 at $40.75 a share, up $1.12 1/2 to a new high. The initial block was 30,000 shares, one of the biggest of the year.

The general market opened strong, gains running to $2 a share in Case Threshing and Dupont, but heavy profit-taking brought irregularly later. Utilities were under some pressure.

Rambo, Freed, Jailed Again for Breaking Furnishings in Jail

Harold Rambo, 19-year-old Circleville youth, seems to like the meals served in the county jails but has a dislike for the windows, beds and brooms.

Rambo was released from the jail Saturday after serving out a fine of $50 and costs on a petty larceny charge. Monday he moved back into the jail to serve out a fine of $100 and costs and 30 days for destroying county property, brought irregularly later. Utilities were under some pressure.

SENATE AGAIN FACING BONUS

Steiner and Lafollette To Attach Payment Bills to Pending Measures.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The senate will get two more chances to vote on payment of the soldiers' bonus this session of congress if the plans of two senators materialize.

This developed today when it was learned that Senators Steiner (R) of Oregon, and Lafollette (P) of Wisconsin, plan to attach bonus payment bills to pending legislation.

Steiner said he will attempt to attach his bonus payment bill as a rider to the pending gold clause resolution, while Lafollette plans to offer his bill as an amendment to the tax bill. Lafollette will withdraw his bonus bill plan if he is successful in amending the tax bill to provide for higher taxes.

HOPSON REPORTED IN U. S. CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—H. C. Hopson, head of the Associated Gas and Electric system, who has been sought for weeks by senate lobby investigators, today was "located" in Washington by the house rules committee, which is conducting a parallel inquiry into lobbying.

Bernard Robinson, chief lobbyist in the capital for the A. G. & E., during the hectic battle over utility legislation, admitted from the committee witness stand that he had talked to Hopson at the Shoreham hotel last night.

Chairman John O'Connor, of New York, of the committee, said he was issuing a subpoena for Hopson immediately.

Police Ordered Out
Once he telephoned the police, gave them a description of Hopson and asked them to "bring him in."

HICKEY SUSPENDS COLUMBUS MANAGER

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Ray Blades, manager of the Columbus team of the American association, was suspended indefinitely today by President Thomas J. Hickey.

Blades suspended Blades for denying the game at Minneapolis Sunday night after 6 o'clock, so that a game declared postponed under Minnesota law.

Blades coming to the charges started his "outing" tactics in the fourth inning after the score was tied. The spectators became so enraged at his tactics that they showered the field with pop bottles, cushions and caused a near riot.

"Children you may now go with Miss Humm and sing."

When children in Sattercock-twp school are given that order this fall they may wonder what it's all about. Humming and singing go hand in hand but it is unusual, at least in this county, for a Miss Humm to teach music.

The Sattercock-twp board of education Monday evening employed Miss Martha B. Humm, Berlin Heights, O., as music instructor. Miss Humm will also teach english and home economics classes.

PLAN AIR DAY HERE SEPT. 8

Number of Planes to Take Part in Celebration On Stevenson Land.

Circleville's fifth annual air day will be held in Stevenson's field northwest of the city, Sept. 8, according to an announcement Tuesday morning by Attorney Tom Renick, president of the local chapter of the National Aeronautic association. The local club will sponsor the celebration.

A number of national guard planes from Cleveland and private owned planes in Columbus are expected here for the celebration. There will be parachute jumps, stunts, a spot landing contest, and a demonstration of the requirements necessary to obtain a pilot license. Arrangements are also being completed to bring a Stinson plane here for passenger flights over the city.

The local chapter plans to sell windshield stickers this year for the celebration and cars having stickers will be admitted to the grounds.

WHEAT PRICE GOES UP THEN DECLINES

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Further reports of rust damage in the Canadian wheat belt and strength at Liverpool and outside domestic markets brought an upturn of around a cent a bushel in wheat prices on the Board of Trade today but the market reacted to the preceding close later in sympathy with the decline in corn prices.

Wheat moved up to 92 1/2c for September early but fell back to under the 92-cent level when heavy selling broke out in the corn pit. Commission houses and locals offered the yellow cereal freely and the September yielded more than a cent to 76 1/2c.

Near mid-season wheat was unchanged to 1c off, corn 1/2c off, oats 1/2c up to 1c down and rye 1/2c to 1c lower.

Goldfrederick Farm Brings $29.25 Acre

The Herman Goldfrederick farm in Sattercock-twp, one mile east of Circleville, was sold at sheriff's sale at the courthouse Monday afternoon for $29.25 per acre.

The 171-acre farm was purchased by the Union Central Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati, N. P. City, by the insurance company, was the only bidder. The land had been appraised at $10 an acre.

The farm was sold to satisfy a common pleas court judgment of $8,855.71 payable from the foreclosure of a mortgage on the farm.

Coalton Man Fined For Drunken Driving

Coal Johnson 27, Coalton, was fined $100 and costs and his driving rights suspended for six months on a charge of driving while intoxicated by H. C. Hopson, judge of record, Tuesday morning. Johnson was committed to the county jail.

Kiwanis Club Hears of Liability Laws

Kiwanians enjoyed an interesting meeting at the Pickaway County club Monday evening with Emmitt L. Crist, attorney, as the speaker.

He discussed the new automobile liability law which goes into effect in Ohio August 20, and took part in a general discussion which followed.

CORN PACKING TO OPEN HERE NEXT MONDAY

Two Plants to Can Early Sweet Corn Then if Good Weather Prevails

CORN CROP NORMAL

Two Others to Wait Until About Aug. 15

Pickaway-co's sweet corn pack will open in two local canning factories early next week and three other county plants will go into operation about Aug. 15th supplying work for hundreds of men.

The Winorr and Esmeralda plants plan to start canning early sweet corn Monday if present weather conditions prevail. The Esmeralda plant will pack corn only while the local Winorr plant will can corn, lima beans and succatash. The local Winorr plant will not can tomatoes this year as this work is now being handled at the new Wauseon plant in northern Ohio. Corn and tomatoes will be worked at Wauseon at the same time.

Others Start Aug. 15

The local Sears and Nichols plant and the H. M. Crites plants in Ashville and New Holland will start packing sweet corn about Aug. 15th. Mr. Crites also plans to open his plants in Tuscola and Newman, Ill., about the same time. The Sears and Nichols plant has been in operation since June packing kidney beans and pork and beans and hominy. These products have been shipped in for packing. Along with the corn pack the plant will run lima beans and succatash.

Corn Yield Normal

All local companies report the sweet corn crop in Pickaway-co will be a normal yield. Corn in low ground was damaged by heavy rains and high water but the average corn is of good quality. It is estimated about 18,000 tons of sweet corn are packed in this county on a normal yield.

sons on pension rolls. The average payment in this county, is $12.37, which Mr. Berrodin says is not too high compared to average awards in adjoining counties.

"The only way to eliminate abuse of discretion and political favoritism by county authorities," Mr. Berrodin said, "is to centralize complete control in the state organization."

Against CO Control

The old age pension chief said that he would continue to urge the legislature to remove control from county commissioners. His plan is to subdivide the state into 14 or 16 districts, under the direction of an administrator, not a resident of that district or county, appointed by and directly responsible to the state division. All applications for pensions, after investigation, would have to be approved by this administrator.

Average payments have been slashed in seven counties already, Mr. Berrodin said, by eliminating shelter costs to those persons who are living with relatives. This has saved the state already about $10,000 during July. Counties affected by this move include Coshocton, Carroll, Union, Lawrence, Richland, Defiance, and Fairfield. Average cuts by this means have amounted to about $2.50 per month.

Accept No New Cases

Mr. Berrodin said no new cases are being accepted on pension lists, except those in need of hospitalization. As the plan to cut shelter costs will be extended to every other county, new cases may be accepted by the additional revenue. Those on the lists now need have no fear of being cut off because of lack of funds for at least three months, Mr. Berrodin said, and by that time, he hoped additional money will be available.

BUYRUS, Aug. 6.—Crawford-co commissioners today joined with commissioners from eight other Ohio counties in protesting old age pension appointments.

Ignored Endorsements

The blast here at Henry J. Berrodin, state pension chief, was caused when Berrodin appointed Fred W. Cronce, city councilman, as Crawford-co administrator ignoring the commissioners' recommendation of Miss Esther Wagner for the post.

Miss Wagner, who had held the position since its inception, was second on the list of eligibles while Cronce was third. C. F. Elise, Galion, was first on the list prior to being dismissed by Berrodin as an investigator.

Rambo, Freed, Jailed Again for Breaking Furnishings in Jail

Harold Rambo, 19-year-old Circleville youth, seems to like the meals served in the county jails but has a dislike for the windows, cots and brooms.

Rambo was released from the jail Saturday after serving out a fine of $50 and costs on a petit larceny charge. Monday he moved back into the jail to serve out a fine of $100 and costs and 30 days for destroying county property, handed out by H. O. Eveland, justice of peace.

Rambo was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell, jail custodian, after the deputy discovered a cot had been badly damaged, window and a broom broken. Rambo was unable to break dishes because the jail uses pans.

UNDERWOOD'S SON ENTERS HOSPITAL

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6.—Ned, the infant son of Congressman Mel G. Underwood of the Eleventh Ohio district, is undergoing treatment at St. Ann's hospital here, it was learned today. The child is 11 months old.

Hospital attaches, under instructions from Underwood, refused to say what ailed the baby, but vouchsafed the information that he was "doing nicely."

KENNETH KERR ILL

WILMINGTON, Aug. 6.—U. S. Marshal R. Kenneth Kerr today was recovering at his home here from a heart attack sequel to an operation performed in Columbus last week. Attending physicians said Kerr was "out of danger." The operation was a minor one.

SENATE AGAIN FACING BONUS

Steiwer and LaFollette To Attach Payment Bills to Pending Measures.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The senate will get two more chances to vote on payment of the soldiers' bonus this session of congress if the plans of two senators materialize.

This developed today when it was learned that Senators Steiwer (R) of Oregon, and LaFollette (P) of Wisconsin, plan to attach bonus payment bills to pending legislation.

Steiwer said he will attempt to attach his bonus payment bill as a rider to the pending gold clause resolution, while LaFollette plans to offer his bill as an amendment to the tax bill. LaFollette will withdraw his bonus bill plan if he is successful in amending the tax bill to provide for higher taxes.

HOPSON REPORTED IN U. S. CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—H. C. Hopson, head of the Associated Gas and Electric system, who has been sought for weeks by senate lobby investigators, today was "located" in Washington by the house rules committee, which is conducting a parallel inquiry into lobbying.

Bernard Robinson, chief lobbyist in the capital for the A. G. and E., during the hectic battle over utility legislation, admitted from the committee witness stand that he had talked to Hopson at the Shoreham hotel last night.

Chairman John O'Connor, of New York, of the committee, said he was issuing a subpoena for Hopson immediately.

Police Ordered Out
O'Connor telephoned the police, gave them a description of Hopson and asked them to "bring him in."

HICKEY SUSPENDS COLUMBUS MANAGER

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Ray Blades, manager of the Columbus team of the American association, was suspended indefinitely today by President Thomas J. Hickey.

Hickey suspended Blades for delaying the game at Minneapolis Sunday until after 6 o'clock so that it would be declared no-contest under Minnesota law.

Blades, according to the charges started his delaying tactics in the fourth inning after the score was tied. The spectators became so enraged at his tactics that they showered the field with pop bottles, cushions and caused a near riot.

Mrs. Pauline Friedman has recovered word from Hollywood that her son, Theodore, (Ted Lewis), is making a fine recovery from his recent operation for appendicitis.

Teacher's Name and Vocation Coincide

"Children you may now go with Miss Humm and sing." When children in Saltcreek-twp school are given that order this fall they may wonder what it all about. Humming and singing go hand in hand but it is unusual, at least in this county, for a Miss Humm to teach music.

The Saltcreek-twp board of education Monday evening employed Miss Martha B. Humm, Berlin Heights, O., as music instructor. Miss Humm will also teach english and home economics classes.

PLAN AIR DAY HERE SEPT. 8

Number of Planes to Take Part in Celebration on Stevenson Land.

Circleville's fifth annual air day will be held in Stevenson's field northwest of the city, Sept. 8, according to an announcement Tuesday morning by Attorney Tom Renick, president of the local chapter of the National Aeronautic association. The local club will sponsor the celebration.

A number of national guard planes from Cleveland and private owned planes in Columbus are expected here for the celebration. There will be parachute jumps, stunts, a spot landing contest, and a demonstration of the requirements necessary to obtain a pilot license. Arrangements are also being completed to bring a Stinson plane here for passenger flights over the city.

The local chapter plans to sell Windshield stickers this year for the celebration and cars having stickers will be admitted to the grounds.

WHEAT PRICE GOES UP THEN DECLINES

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Further reports of rust damage in the Canadian wheat belt and strength at Liverpool and outside domestic markets brought an upturn of around a cent a bushel in wheat prices on the Board of Trade today but the market reacted to the preceding close later in sympathy with the decline in corn prices.

Wheat moved up to 92½¢ for September early but fell back to under the 92-cent level when heavy selling broke out in the corn pit. Commission houses and locals offered the yellow cereal freely and the September yielded more than a cent to 76¼¢.

Near mid-season wheat was unchanged to ½¢ off, corn ¼ to 1½¢ off, oats ¼¢ to ½¢ down and rye ¼¢ to ½¢ lower.

Goldfrederick Farm Brings $29.25 Acre

The Herman Goldfrederick farm in Saltcreek-twp, nine miles east of Circleville, was sold at sheriff's sale at the courthouse Monday afternoon for $29.25 per acre.

The 171-acre farm was purchased by the Union Central Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati, N. P. Clyburn, Washington, C. H., representative for the insurance company was the only bidder. The land had been appraised at $40 an acre.

The farm was sold to satisfy a common pleas court judgment of $5,855.71 resulting from the foreclosure of a mortgage the insurance company held on the farm.

Coalton Man Fined For Drunken Driving

Cecil Johnson, 27, Coalton, was fined $100 and costs and his driving rights suspended for six months on a charge of driving while intoxicated by H. O. Eveland, justice of peace, Tuesday morning. Johnson was committed to the county jail.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Armstrong arrested Johnson Sunday night on N. Court-st.

CORN PACKING TO OPEN HERE NEXT MONDAY

Two Plants to Can Early
Sweet Corn Then if Good
Weather Prevails

CORN CROP NORMAL

Two Others to Wait Until About Aug. 15

Pickaway-co's sweet corn pack will open in two local canning factories early next week and three other county plants will go into operation about Aug. 15th supplying work for hundreds of men.

The Winorr and Esmeralda plants plan to start canning early sweet corn Monday if present weather conditions prevail. The Esmeralda plant will pack corn only while the local Winorr plant will can corn, lima beans and succatash. The local Winorr plant will not can tomatoes this year as this work is now being handled at the new Wauseon plant in northern Ohio. Corn and tomatoes will be worked at Wauseon at the same time.

Others Start Aug. 15

The local Sears and Nichols plant and the H. M. Crites plants in Ashville and New Holland will start packing sweet corn about Aug. 15th. Mr. Crites also plans to open his plants in Tuscola and Newman, Ill., about the same time. The Sears and Nichols plant has been in operation since June packing kidney beans and pork and beans and hominy. These products have been shipped in for packing. Along with the corn pack the plant will run lima beans and succatash.

Corn Yield Normal

All local companies report the sweet corn crop in Pickaway-co will be a normal yield. Corn in low ground was damaged by heavy rains and high water but the average corn is of good quality. It is estimated about 18,000 tons of sweet corn are packed in this county on a normal yield.

"WHEN?" MELL

WE'VE begun to wonder just when Congressman Mell G. Underwood, supposed to be representing Pickaway-co and other counties in the 11th Ohio congressional district, is going to be present when a vote is called on an important issue before the congress of the nation.

In the last campaign Congressman Underwood successfully combatted Aspirant Renick Dunlap's argument that he failed to attend important roll call meetings. "Mell" pledged himself to be a real representative, now he is not present when such legislation as the holding company measure, the new tax measure, and others are determined.

In several roll calls he has been the only member of the Ohio delegation not voting. The answer is: "He hasn't been present."

Now "Mell" is being reported as planning to seek another term. He is a good legislator and a smart one, but it seems to us he has been none too clever by failing to attend the congressional sessions.

DUTY TO BALLOT

IN another part of this paper, there appears a Proclamation by the Board of Elections of Pickaway-co, announcing that a Primary election will be held Tuesday, August 13th. This is the second Tuesday of the month.

In drawing your attention to this advertisement, we wish to emphasize the fact, that it is the bounden duty of each citizen to cast his vote in the Primary. Too little attention is given to the initial election. The primary is the gateway to the general election. It is at this election that you choose candidates to represent your town's interests and government.

Don't wait until the day after election to express your opinion, cast a vote for the proper candidate. If voters would do their duty, each town would have men that would represent the best interests of its citizens.

Word, "Epilepsy" Makes Too Many Folk Unhappy

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"EPILEPSY" that terrifying word, should, according to kind-hearted neurologists, be eliminated from the language. Its use makes too many people unhappy. Yesterday we recorded Dr. Henry Riley's remarks to that effect.

There has been described a Latin called "the epileptic personality". These people are said to be egocentric, absorbed with their own inner affairs, hypersensitive. They lack adaptability in normal social life. There is a tendency to day dreaming. Brooding over their place in the world makes them unhappy. "The attack occurs at the final break of a too severe tension." Such is the description of this personality.

But it is not possible that the epileptic personality is not the result of the disease, but due to the emotional shock produced on the mind by telling a person he has "epilepsy", with all the things that means to him—a life-long invalidism, associated with symptoms that mean horror to him. What more natural than that on hearing the diagnosis he, being ignorant of the enormous variability of frequency and severity shown by the group of nervous disorders, instinctively assigns himself to the worst category and becomes paralyzed in will, ambitions and performance, often withdrawing himself completely from all artistic, cultural and social pursuits.

Of the convulsive disorders only a small number possess an inherent malignant tendency and character.

Only Small Number Malignant
Particularly terrifying to parents is the time when one of the children has a convulsion. And yet this is common in children, and may be due to simple causes—and those easily cured.

For instance, teething will do it. Probably teething alone won't do it, but teething in a nervous child which has had poor digestion may be sufficiently irritating to bring on a convulsion.

Rickets frequently is a cause. Any high fever, no matter what the cause, even so minor a thing as an intestinal upset, may do it. Worms have been ascribed as a cause. Inflammation of the middle ear is a frequent cause.

So it is easy to understand that no one should become dependent over such an occurrence until a diagnosis has been made. Convulsions which begin in adult life are almost never true epilepsy. They are due to causes, most of which are amenable to treatment. Paresis frequently shows its first manifestation by the tempestuous onset of a fit. And paresis, with the modern high temperature treatment, seldom fails to come under control.

THE DEVIL'S MANSION

By REX JARDIN

READ THIS FIRST:

Blair Rodman is riding in a truck with Janet Lord from the town of Boisvain in western Canada to the weird old home of an elderly Miss Boisvain who lives in a huge house with only a woman servant and a fierce dog. They have just left the city to retrieve his car that he came mired in the ditch near the Boisvain house during a terrific thunderstorm the night before. Shortly afterward the queer old woman refused him shelter and her dog chased him from the house. McClure, the truck driver, tells Blair there is much mystery about the Boisvain house. The girl is on her way to Miss Boisvain's to become her companion after answering an ad in a Vancouver paper following her father's death. She shows Blair an attractive letter from Miss Boisvain and then bids him goodbye as they reach the house. When McClure tells him he brought another young girl to the Boisvain house four months previously who never returned, Blair decides to delay his trip west a few days. Meanwhile Janet meets Miss Boisvain who surprises her as much as does her bizarre house. Janet learns that Nita cannot talk. She notices Miss Boisvain's crystal ring and, gazing into it, sees Blair Rodman's features. Janet is surprised when Rajah, the dog, is summoned from the room by a shrill whistle which she knows was used by neither Miss Boisvain nor Nita. She is further amazed when she finds there is no furniture in her bedroom except a small cot. When she retires for the night, the dog follows Janet and prevents her closing her door. Footsteps padding at her door, and finding the window she had closed open the following morning, disturb Janet still more.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

LEANING FAR out of her bedroom window, Janet saw at the extreme end of the neglected garden, the roof of a little structure, which was almost at the rear of the house. It was low, and the bushes and shrubs came almost to the roof. Something like, and dark, was running swiftly through the bushes. . . . an animal that disappeared into the forest. Rajah, she imagined, for she half recognized the pointed alert ears, and the color of the dog.

The sky was very blue, bluer than she had ever seen it before. The forest in front of her was still, as if it were holding its breath for a moment. A bird was singing a rippling, happy song somewhere among the trees, but the tones came sweet and clear to her ears.

Hers was the only window open on this side of the house. All the rest were shuttered tightly.

Stepping back into the middle of the room, Janet noticed a big bowl of water on the floor near the cot. She was thankful for it, and gave herself a hasty sponge bath.

But how had the window been opened, the door pushed back, without disturbing the suitcases? She was a light sleeper and awakened instantly at the slightest noise. Surely she would have heard the suitcases crash to the floor!

On the door into the hall was a full length, large gold frame. She had not noticed it in the darkness the night before. Carved heavily, the gilt cornices were dull and almost bronzed with age. She saw at once that it held no mirror. Now it only framed the paneled door.

On the door to the closet was another such frame, also empty of glass! Puzzled, Janet went forward to examine the closet frame. There were grooves for the mirror, and putting her fingers on them, she drew them away quickly. She felt the sharp edge of glass. The mirrors had been cut from the frames!

The room was a large one, and seemed more desolate, more terrible to her in the daylight than it had the night before.

A fireplace which reached from the floor to the high ceiling was boarded at the mouth. This stood against the wall near the windows.

Sighing as she opened her suitcases, she searched for a small hand mirror of silver which belonged to a toilet set her father had given her years before. There it was. . . . but she thought she had put it on top where she could get it readily.

Idly she took the mirror in her hands and looked into it. Startled, she looked again. The glass had been taken out. . . . and she was looking into a bit of cardboard, which had backed the mirror!

Yes, her bags had been opened, and although her things were neatly arranged, they were not in the same places she had put them when she packed in Vancouver for the trip.

Her purse! There was a small mirror in a compact in her purse. On the bed she had laid it. But when she opened it and hunted for the compact it was gone!

Hastily putting on a fresh blue crepe dress, she carefully arranged her suitcases again, put her hat in readiness on the cot, and her light coat near it.

She was determined to leave at the first opportunity.

There was not a sound in the hall, as she softly opened the door and peered out. It was as if no one were in the house. Not even the muffled hint of footsteps came from the lower floor.

Trembling slightly as she closed the door of her room after her, she started down the hall. A series of closed doors on each side. . . . and the stairs in front of her. A winding flight going up to the third floor, with smooth graceful railings. One down with the same turned banisters.

The hall was bare of furniture and rugs. Undecided about descending the stairs, Janet walked down the hall quietly. At the door next to her own she paused and touched the knob. Gaining more confidence she turned it and looked in. The room was empty, even more so than hers. Not even a cot, and the blinds were drawn. Mirrors in this room, too, she saw had been removed. Closing the door silently, she went next to her own, looking back at each step, holding her breath, for fear she would hear Rajah running up the stairs.

After her tour of the floor, she went back to the stairs, her face whiter than it had been. All the rooms were empty. Nothing in any of them.

Where did Nita sleep, and Miss Boisvain? Why had they put her on an empty floor?

Perhaps they had their rooms on the third floor, or even the first.

Her hand on the railing, she started to go down, when Nita appeared at a door below, and waited for her. Janet called "Good morning," which Nita responded to with a nod of her head. When the girl reached the bottom of the flight, the servant held open the swinging door into the living room.

Mechanically Janet still stepped on the heavy rug, and made her way to Miss Boisvain's chair, a firm cast to her red lips, and her eyes shining with determination.

"Good morning, Miss Lord," her employer said, smiling her cold, hard smile.

"Good morning," Janet answered shortly, and sat down on a chair near her.

The sun, coming through the side windows, lighted up the high, old room, pointing with glowing fingers to the raveled hangings, the faded rug, the tattered upholstery on the chairs. The windows at the far end were tightly draped. These Janet decided were in the front.

"Are you ready for your breakfast?" Miss Boisvain asked. The banjo clock on the wall showed nearly nine o'clock.

"After I talk to you, Miss Boisvain," Janet said. "I'm leaving as soon as I can. I don't understand the house, nor you, and I can't possibly be happy in a place where I can't have a decent room."

"Leaving?" and Miss Boisvain's pinkish eyebrows lifted inquisitively. "Yes."

"When?"

"At once, as soon as I've had my breakfast."

"I can't spare you," the woman said coldly.

"Nevertheless, I'm going." "There will be no transportation out of here for a month, when Mr. McClure comes again with the groceries and supplies."

Janet walked. Miss Boisvain grunted. The grunt was more like a cackle. "Rajah will not let you go, Miss Lord, so you had better forget your little plan to walk to Boisvain."

"Rajah will not let me!"

"He has his orders and he obeys them. You will stay until. . . until I am ready to let you go."

"I don't understand. . . ." the girl faltered.

"I warn you, Rajah has orders to keep you here. He is dangerous. Even I, and the woman's voice sank to a whisper, "even I. . . am afraid of him, and keep a charm. . . ." she touched the chameleon which was smugling against the yellow of her neck. "To protect myself from him. . . nothing to cross him!"

"But I can't be forced to stay here against my will!"

Miss Boisvain said nothing to this, only looked enigmatically into the fire.

Rajah was heard at the door, jumping to push it open. Janet shrank back frightened. The dog came in slowly, straight for the girl, and crouched at her feet snarling a little, as if he were displeased with something.

Janet had not noticed that Nita had brought in a breakfast tray and left it on the table, so engrossed was she in watching Rajah. Miss Boisvain called her attention to the tray and poured a cup of coffee for the girl.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Black Rust Damage Will Force United States to Import Wheat Next Year

WASHINGTON—The Department of Agriculture is saying no more than it has to about it, but the United States will have to import wheat next year. Reason is the black rust damage to spring wheat. It will reduce the crop far more than expected.

Next Friday (August 9) at 3 o'clock, the official crop estimate will be made. It will show the official estimate of July 1 to have been out of line by about 140 million bushels.

Most of this loss is in the spring wheat states of North Dakota and Minnesota, where first early rains brought green growth to the young wheat and high hope to the farmers.

After what happened last year, a bumper crop was hoped for and expected.

But now the black rust spore is killing off as much as 90 per cent of the crop on some farms.

Result will be a harvest of about 590 million bushels, far below domestic requirements. Farmers in Kansas and Nebraska will profit, for the shortage is already booming the price.

But growers of rusted wheat are as bad off as last year—possibly worse.

Last year the drought was in full blast in May, the Congress appropriated relief money June 19. No money will come from the Federal till this year, partly because the Government is not on the spot as it was before.

It has an "out" this time. It is not responsible for crop reduction. Spring wheat farmers were allowed to sow 100 per cent of their land. They will have to feed their rusted stubble to the stock and try again next year.

Utility Education

There was a day when Broadway wise-cracking Eddie Dowling was a bit naive about holding companies. To him they did not look any more dangerous than a piece of stage property in his theater.

In fact, during the 1932 election, when he was collecting campaign funds for Roosevelt, Eddie got a contribution for $65,000 from the Floyd L. Carlisle utility interests, one of the biggest holding companies in the country.

Eddie took the check back to headquarters with great glee and was grief-stricken when Roosevelt told him he could not accept it.

"It's the biggest single contribution of the campaign," mourned Eddie.

Two years and more passed. Eddie Dowling was invited to speak at a farewell dinner given to Charles F. Norris, vice president of the Carlisle utility company hosts.

"Thieves! Ingrates!" he stormed.

That ended the evening. But it did not end Dowling's relations with holding companies. He and his brother ran a coal company which supplied fuel to power plants in and around New York. Shortly after the dinner, Eddie found his coal orders cancelled.

White House Closure

As the Congressional session wears on, some of the President's best friends are comparing the situation within the White House as similar to that during the latter days of Woodrow Wilson when Joe Tumulty, his secretary, and William Gibbs McAdoo, his son-in-law and Secretary of the Treasury, ran the Administration.

At that time few people could reach the President, and few policies could be initiated without going through either Tumulty or McAdoo.

The White House today, according to many, is being influenced chiefly by Marvin McIntyre, presidential secretary, and by young Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury.

This comparison is exaggerated, but there is enough truth in it to bear watching. It is a fact with every president, but especially with one precluded for physical reasons from much activity, that those nearest him sooner or later dominate his policies, mold his views.

Young Henry Morgenthau's attitude is that of one at the throne of the mighty. He is a worshipping rather than a dominator.

WELL-MEANT STRATEGY

SOMETIMES well-meant strategy turns out to be the most advantageous thing which could have happened for opponents, as it did on the following weekend-end played in Locust Valley, Long Island.

Bidding went: South, 1-Heart; West, 1-Spade, which I jumped to 3-Spades, as my partner is inclined to be timid rebidding over an opening bid unless the opening bidder rebids, which would not have been done with her hand and we would have missed game; West, 4-Spades, with considerable reluctance.

The opening lead was the 9 of clubs. From my position as dummy I knew a singleton had been led, hoping that South held the missing Ace and would give North a ruff, after which South could win her two heart tricks, certainly defeating the contract. I wondered if my partner would put up dummy's Ace. She did, but danger was not over for our side. The majority of declarers go for the drop with only 4 cards, including the Q missing. The odds in favor of going for the drop, rather than finessing on the first round, are 33 to 23, so my partner led dummy's K of spades, dropping South's 3 and North's 6, snatching South with no session of the 4 and North with no more trumps at the Q alone. The odds in favor of taking the finesse on the second round, as against going for the drop, are 25 to 23, but my partner did not know that. She led low from dummy. When South played the 4 my partner played her Ace, only to find she had established the Q in South's hand.

As my partner played the hand we would have gone down a trick if North had led a heart, as 2 heart tricks, losing to the Q of spades and to the K of clubs would have given defenders 4 tricks.

However, my partner did not go down. She led off her Ace of diamonds, then dummy's K and Q of diamonds won tricks. Upon the last winning diamond, led from dummy my partner discarded a trick of her losing heart, so defenders after all won only 1 trump, 1 heart and 1 club trick, enabling us to fulfill our game contract. It could have done South no good to ruff the third lead of diamonds, as declarer would have discarded one of her losing hearts just the same.

North's well-meant strategy was due to bad judgment. There were less than even chances for South to hold the missing Ace of clubs, even if she had opened the bidding.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Ladies and gentlemen, the following announcement is addressed only to people who like to laugh. Because only those who appreciate that potent blend of pathos and nonsense which is high comedy will be interested in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the Cliftona Theatre.

It is entitled "Baby Face Harrington," and introduces Charles Butterworth and Uno Merkel in their first co-starring comedy vehicle. As Mr. and Mrs. Willie Harrington, they play a quiet, small-town couple who suddenly become involved in a national man hunt.

AT THE GRAND

Claudette Colbert is one of the few Hollywood stars who has never bleached or dyed her hair, content to keep her curly brown locks and to depend on becoming coiffures to lend beauty to her "crowning glory." Miss Colbert is at the Grand Theatre in "Imitation of Life." Universal's John M. Stahl production.

AT THE CIRCLE

Kermit Maynard, the screen's "fighting trooper" of the heroic corps of scrapping Canadian constables, has a role that fits his unique personality like the proverbial glove in James Oliver Curwood's thrilling account of devotion to duty, "Code of the Mounted," which comes to the Circle Theatre tonight and Wednesday.

In "Code of the Mounted," Kermit Maynard is given the fullest scope by his remarkable talents as a two-fisted combatant and a rider who is without a peer on the screen.

NOT PARTICULAR NOW

D. U. V. Past Presidents Meet at Mader Home

A very delightful evening was enjoyed by members of the Past Presidents' club of the local tent Daughters of the Union Veterans, Monday evening, when Misses Laura and Emma Mader entertained at their home on E. Franklin-st.

An interesting diversion of the evening was the reviewing of a book of poems, "The Watch Paper," which has an interesting history. The book written by the late Mrs. Miranda Jones Sherman, a resident of this city, whose husband was the superintendent of the cemetery for many years, was dedicated to Mary Wood, who is now Mrs. J. A. Schoedinger of Columbus.

The book, which was used for the review last night, is the possession of Mrs. Charles M. Rife, W. Union-st., the author being a great aunt of the late Mr. Rife.

Following the review Miss Emma Mader conducted a contest and prizes were given two members for the two best watch paper cuttings. Mrs. E. L. Price and Mrs. L. E. Miller received the prizes.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Dresbach Descendants Meet Near Hallsville

The fourth annual reunion recently of the descendants of Jacob and Elizabeth Harvey Dresbach was particularly delightful because it was held at the gracious home of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Dresbach near Hallsville, Md. and Mrs. Clyde Beougher assisted the host and hostess in receiving 44 members and five visitors.

A dinner was spread on long tables arranged in the shade of old trees pleasantly spaced on a lawn.

After dinner the younger generation and several of the near-young engaged in a spirited game of volley ball, while the very young amused themselves with bean bags. Conversation engaged the less active members of the group until ice cream was served. A severe storm drove the gathering indoors where a short business meeting was conducted and a program enjoyed.

The secretary read letters of regret from the Joseph Clevenger family of Staten Island, N. Y., Dr. Melvin Dresbach of Albany, N. Y. and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wichter of Columbus.

The following officers were elected and committees appointed to function in 1936: Harland Dresbach of Hallsville, president; Richard F. Dresbach, this city, treasurer; Mrs. Judd H. Dresbach of Chillicothe, secretary-treasurer; Jessie Dresbach and Mrs. Henry Dresbach, dinner committee; Herman Dresbach, Elliott Dresbach and Ellersie Dresbach, janitor service.

Mrs. Clarence Heffner was in charge of the program which included a reading by Sue Dresbach; music by a string trio from this city comprised of Ned Dresbach, Kenneth Davis and Garner Alderman with Mrs. Mabel Andrews at the piano; a most realistic and amusing interpretation of "What is an Anthem" by Mrs. Rose Dresbach, oldest member of the family, and two delightful cornet numbers by Raymond Clark, accompanied by Mrs. Beougher.

The meeting adjourned for an informal hour to meet the last Sunday in July in 1936 at the Herman Dresbach grove in Hallsville.

The members present were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beougher of West Liberty, Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Dresbach, Ged, Joan, Eleanor, Dorothy and Margery, Mr. and Mrs. Warner L. Dresbach, Jessie and Florence Helen, Mrs. Mabel Andrews and Peggy Louise, Miss Ann Dresbach, this city; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Carnes, Mr. and Mrs. Judd H. FORMER TEACHER HOME FOR VISIT

Rev. Sauer, Wife and Family Home From Korea for First Time in Seven Years.

Circleville and Pickaway-co people will be interested in the announcement that Rev. Charles A. Sauer and family arrived in Chillicothe Tuesday from Korea where they have been missionaries for 13 years.

Rev. Sauer was superintendent of Washington-twp schools for two years, prior to going to Korea, and his wife, the former Marguerite Suttles, taught domestic science in the same school. They lived in Circleville while teaching in Washington-twp and were active workers in the local M. E. church. They had a wide acquaintance throughout Pickaway-co.

They have spent 13 years in Korea, having been home seven years after their first furlough. After a brief visit with his sisters at Chillicothe, they will go to Greenfield for a few days visit with Rev. Sauer's brother, Mac Sauer, editor of the Greenfield Republican. From there they will go to Albion, Pa., for a visit with Mrs. Sauer's relatives.

They will return to southern Ohio this fall and will probably take up their residence somewhere in this section. They will return to Korea in 1936.

The Sauers are the parents of three interesting sons, Charles Jr., Robert, and David, all born in Korea.

The following officers were elected and committees appointed to function in 1936: Harland Dresbach of Hallsville, president; Richard F. Dresbach of this city, treasurer; Mrs. Judd H. Dresbach of Chillicothe, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Judd H. Dresbach and Mrs. Henry Dresbach, dinner committee; Herman Dresbach, Elliott Dresbach and Ellerslie Dresbach, janitor service.

Mrs. Clarence Heffner was in charge of the program which included a reading by Sue Dresbach, music by a stringed trio from this city comprised of Ned Dresbach, Kenneth Davis and Garner Alderman with Mrs. Mabel Andrews at the piano, a most realistic and amusing interpretation of "What is an Anthem" by Mrs. Rose Dresbach, oldest member of the family, and two delightful cornet numbers by Raymond Clark, accompanied by Mrs. Beougher.

The meeting adjourned for an informal hour to meet the last Sunday in July in 1936 at the Harman Dresbach grove in Hallsville.

The members present were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beougher of West Liberty; Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Dresbach, Ged, Joan, Eleanor, Dorothy and Margery, Mr. and Mrs. Warner L. Dresbach, Jessie and Florence Helen, Mrs. Mabel Andrews and Peggy Louise, Miss Ann Dresbach, this city; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Carnes, Mr. and Mrs. Judd H. Dresbach and Sue of Chillicothe; Mrs. Chions Clark.

FORMER TEACHER HOME FOR VISIT

Rev. Sauer, Wife and Family Home From Korea for First Time in Seven Years.

Circleville and Pickaway-co people will be interested in the announcement that Rev. Charles A. Sauer and family arrived in Chillicothe Tuesday from Korea where they have been missionaries for 13 years.

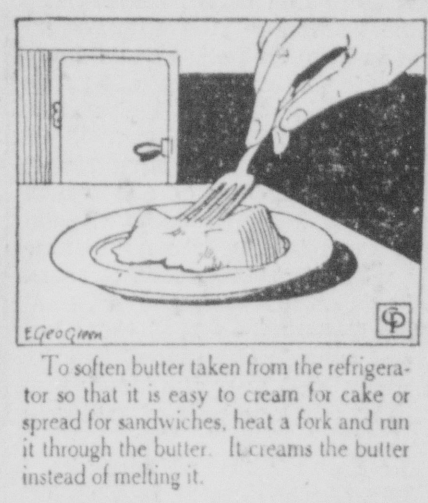

Rev. Sauer was superintendent of Washington-twp schools for two years, prior to going to Korea, and his wife, the former Marguerite Suttles, taught domestic science in the same school. They lived in Circleville while teaching in Washington-twp and were active workers in the local M. E. church. They had a wide acquaintance throughout Pickaway-co.

They have spent 13 years in Korea, having been home seven years ago on their first furlough. After a brief visit with his sisters at Chillicothe, they will go to Greenfield for a few days visit with Rev. Sauer's brother, MacL Sauer, editor of the Greenfield Republican. From there they will go to Albion, Pa. for a visit with Mrs. Sauer's relatives.

They will return to southern Ohio this fall and will probably take up their residence somewhere in this section. They will return to Korea in 1936.

The Sauers are the parents of three interesting sons, Charles Jr., Robert, and David, all born in Korea.

POLICE GUARD ORDERED FOR 'HEAVY' BOUT

Fear Racial Disorders May Result From Louis and Levinsky Tangle.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—There was an air of vague uneasiness, a feeling that something violent and perhaps even sinister lurked below the surface of Chicago's calm today as the two-toned principals of tomorrow night's brawl, King Levinsky and Joe Louis, prepared to endure with what patience they might the long wait before the bell. It was to be the first so-called "mixed" fight of any consequence to take place within the limits of this racially volatile town in some years. The last one inspired a brannigan in the gallery with death for two people as its penalty.

In Levinsky Territory

It wasn't the kind of a prize fight that could be calculated to incite its witnesses to disorders, the principals having been a couple of welterweights who for several reasons were doubtless impersonal and without rancor. No such reasons exist in the case of Levinsky, nee Krakow, the pride of the fish peddlers, and the cafe noir young man known as Louis, with the whole south side on his team. Moreover, the fight is to be held at Comiskey park, deep within the environs of the Cordovian population.

Perhaps that's the reason that more than 1,000 police, one for every 10 customers, will be detailed to the scene tomorrow night. Perhaps it also accounts for the fact that Promoter Mike Jacobs was suddenly evasive today when asked about the projected Louis-Baer fight late in September.

On the assumption that Louis will use the King's royal profile for batting practice, the Baer meeting, if any, was originally scheduled for Chicago. But this morning Promoter Jacobs, it seemed, just wouldn't know about that.

"It will go to the city offering the best inducements," he said, non-committally and with great guile.

His statement, in fact, was all very clear, except that Promoter Jacobs does his own offering of inducements and, since he is a one-man corporation without any board of directors, these are invariably satisfactory.

But, for some reason, Promoter Jacobs seemed to be without definite information concerning the immediate intention of Matchmaker Jacobs, except on one point. He was, he said, to have a meeting with Ancil Hoffman, manager of Baer, here tonight.

Fight Probable

He added that Baer had been working out for the last week and that telephone conversations with Hoffman had convinced him that a Baer-Louis fight was not only possible, but probable. It figures to gross impressively here, probably over $400,000, whereas New York, which now mildly disapproves of the gift to American womanhood, would do well if it ran the receipts as high as half of that amount.

Why not Chicago, then? Well, Promoter Jacobs would have to see. It all depended. On what, for instance? well, on anything.

Offhand, I'd say that it depended on whether tomorrow night's witnesses conduct themselves with restraint or finish up with their hands locked in one another's haberdashery. Meanwhile, the advance sale is understood to be $120,000 and Louis is quoted at 2 to 1. He ought to be no better than four.

Postmaster General Farley says the depression will be over by next summer. And immediately we'll have the presidential campaign.

O'NEILL IS NEW INDIAN CHIEF

Alva Bradley

Steve O'Neill

"We'll hustle," says Steve O'Neill, right, appointed new manager of the Cleveland Indians as he shakes hands with Alva Bradley, president of the club. O'Neill, former catcher of the Tribe, succeeds Walter Johnson, who resigned "for the good of the club."

About THIS and THAT

By the Second Guesser

A FEW BRIEFS :

Norb Seidensticker, crack Chilli-cothe golfer who has "fallen" for the Pickaway Country club layout, is an ex-captain of a Notre Dame university golf team :

Circleville and Pickaway-co tennis stars have been invited to enter the 11th annual South Central Ohio tennis tournament at Chillicothe Aug. 20 to 24. It is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the News Advertiser. A fine prize is given :

Shanty Hogan, one of baseball's biggest men, has been handed his release by the Boston Braves :

Marshall Oliphant of Cleveland has been named head coach at Olivet college, Mich. Oliphant, in our estimation, was given a mighty poor break at Ohio State by the honorable Sam Willaman, but he still is a football man :

Steve O'Neill has promised President Alva Bradley of the Indians to have a fighting ball club. We're recalling that O'Neill had nearly all the Cleveland players under him at Toledo but could never make the first division. Of course Averill, Vosmik and Harder, big three of the Indian squad, were never at Toledo and they do make a difference :

Joe Louis, brown bomber, declares he will put Levinsky on the canvass to stay within two rounds :

A move is on to buy some peat moss for the Pickaway Country club course. It is to be done by contribution and should prove very valuable. It would be placed early in September :

The chain letter gag has spread to criticism of President Roosevelt. Only in this case everyone gives, and the president has to take it all.

Henry Ford insists he just "spent" his 72nd birthday; he didn't observe it. When he gets old he'll take particular notice of it.

BIRDS CLIMB NEAR INDIANS

Klinger Tough in Pinches As Columbus Takes Advantage of Breaks.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6.—The league-leading Minneapolis Millers maintained their pace in the American Association race by defeating Louisville, 5 to 2, and were three games in front today after rain kept the second-place Indianapolis team idle at St. Paul.

The Columbus Red Birds managed to keep on Indianapolis' heels by turning back Kansas City, 3 to 2. The win put the Flock two games behind the Indians.

Bill Perrin, Miller hurler, won his twelfth victory of the season by besting Dick Bass of Louisville. Both teams recorded nine hits with Perrin getting seven Colonels on strikeouts.

The Red Birds scored three unearned runs in the second to take an early lead over the Kaws who scored their lone pair of tallies in the third.

The Kaws hit Bob Klinger hard registering 10 safe blows but could not produce in the pinches. The Flock could get only five hits off Struss, Kansas City pitcher.

In the other A. A. game, Milwaukee opened its series against Toledo by downing the Mudhens, 9 to 6. A four run rally in the fifth clinched the game for the Brewers.

Campbell Serious

Bruce Campbell

Critically ill in Harper hospital at Detroit, Bruce Campbell, hard-hitting outfielder of the Cleveland Indians, was reported suffering cerebral spinal fever, a form of spinal meningitis. Campbell was given a 50-50 chance to survive the illness, which seemed nothing more than a common cold when contracted a week before the player was forced to leave the field during a game in Detroit.

JONES' EDGE CHOW OUTFIT

Two Runs in Fourth With Aid of Two Walks Stop Purina's Reorganized Crew.

The Jones Specials continued their drive toward a second half title, Monday, by defeating the Ralston-Purina Chows, 3 to 1, in seven innings. The Purina boys put up a mighty good game, using only employees of the mill.

Barring a bad first inning when the Specials tallied all three of their hits and one run, and a wild fourth inning when two men who walked scored, Snyder, head of the game well in hand.

His teammates, however, could do little with Bob Jones' slants with men on the bases.

Tonight the Chows are again in action against the Circleville Oils.

'TEEING OFF'

Two golf matches were played in the Pickaway Country club class A division, Monday, Emil Hroben, professional, announced today.

George Meyers won from Tom Brunner on the 19th hole and Frank Barnhill turned back A. L. Wilder 3 up and 1 to go.

The semi-monthly stag for Wednesday is to follow a mystery tournament starting at 2 o'clock. The evening will be occupied by a dinner and a 5 - minute lesson series on the No. 6 iron by the club professional.

The drawing for the weekly jack pot will also take place at the stag.

A week from Wednesday, Aug. 14, the Country club golfers will go to Washington C. H. to play an inter-club match. Golfers are asked to inform the pro whether they are going and if they will remain for supper.

All first matches in the club championship, Class A and Class B divisions must be played by Thursday or an automatic default will be posted.

JUDGE HOLDS FATE OF TWO IN LANG CASE

State May Complete Its Case
Today; Death Sentence To Be Sought.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, hollow-eyed, sallow grandmother, and Mrs. Evelyn Smith, faded blonde, monkey-tonk dancer, on trial for the brutal torso murder of Ervin J. Lang, 26-year-old grocer's clerk, may know, whether or not they are to have the dubious distinction of being the first women to sit in Illinois' electric chair, before the week is out.

With no show of emotion the two women sat side by side in court yesterday and heard themselves called "cold blooded murderers," heard Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty demand:

"Nothing but the extreme penalty should be meted out to these women."

Mute at Arraignment
The two women stood mute when arraigned and pleas of not guilty were entered for them.

Both waived a jury trial, content to let their fate rest with Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the criminal court.

Hearing of evidence will begin today, with the possibility the state will rest its case before nightfall.

The two women, who have made confessions, are expected to take the stand in their own defense tomorrow. And the case will probably be in Judge Harrington's hands by tomorrow night.

In his opening statement Prosecutor Dougherty related the details of the confessions. Mrs. Dunkel and Mrs. Smith tried twice before to kill Long, he declared.

Mrs. Smith got in touch with two men in New York and asked them to come to Chicago "and do the job," but both failed to come here, Dougherty said.

Asked $1,000 Fee
A Chicagoan, Andrew Culler, asked $1,000 to perform the slaying, Dougherty declared, was offered $500 and refused.

"Finally Mrs. Dunkel asked Mrs. Smith why she and her husband (Harry Jung, Chinese, a fugitive) couldn't do the job," Dougherty told the court.

Lang was lured to Mrs. Smith's apartment the evening of July 5, he continued, stupefied with whiskey, strangled by Mrs. Smith. Later she hacked Lang's legs from his body and with the help of Jung disposed of the torso and legs.

"Mrs. Dunkel tried continuously to procure people to kill her son-in-law," Dougherty said.

Motive advanced for the crime was Mrs. Dunkel's impassioned rage because she believed Lang was being untrue to the memory of his dead wife (her daughter).

CARTOON BRINGS JAPAN PROTEST

Not on your tintype
Five highly unlikely historical situations by one who is sick of the same old headlines.

Because of this caricature, showing Emperor Hirohito of Japan pulling a junkie in a Vanity Fair, American magazine, the Japanese ambassador, Hiroshi Satou, was instructed by the Japanese government to make an official protest. In Japan the emperor is looked upon as of divine origin, which the government recently restated in a memorandum aimed at Japanese liberals, who would have the people consider the emperor as a constitutional monarch, subject to parliament. Militarists, in the saddle, however, have won out and they now conduct all the business of the empire in the name of an absolute monarch—parliament sinking to a secondary place.

Mussolini is understood to have had plans for the current orders all ready last week, but he deferred announcing them in order to avoid a direct slap for the League while it was still holding a "peace and conciliation" conference.

Ethiopian Tribe Postpone Feuds

LONDON, Aug. 6. Italy's explanation that Abyssinian mobilization necessitated today's orders for 72,000 more men to report for service was preceded by a dispatch from Addis Ababa in the Daily Express that Ethiopian troops are flocking to the north, where the Italian offensive is expected.

Feuds among tribes have been temporarily forgotten, and all the chieftains, enroute to the front, stream through Addis Ababa to pledge allegiance to Emperor Haile Selassie, the Express said.

Most of the mobilizing forces come from the central provinces of Shoa, Gojjam, Ogaden, and Gona.

"Powerful chieftains, leading strangely armed but fearless subjects, come to make their pledges to the emperor," the newspaper wrote.

"Then they march on northward to meet the Queen of Sheba's ancient city Aksum, and at Gondar, Adowa, and Makale, the cities where Abyssinian generals believe Italy will launch her most force attack."

Anne Sibley Gone Freaks Hoping For Her Return

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. —Gloom pervades the Coney Island side show, where pretty Anne Sibley held forth.

Somewhere in New York today the daughter of a prominent Chicago attorney was closeted with her mother, straightening out snarls in her family life.

At least that's what was said at the side show, where Anne worked as an assistant barker and as the "girl in a magic act called 'The Girl with the Vanishing Head'."

Anne had run away from Antioch college in Ohio. She was found in Bernard Rosen's side show and announced in no uncertain terms that she intended to remain there because "I can learn more in show business than I'll ever learn in college."

The 21-year-old girl's mother is reported to have hurried on here, Chicago to plead with her daughter, however, and yesterday Anne disappeared from the show.

Someone seemed to know where the girl was, for her mother was found, place.

But Anne, taking leave of her friends among the "freaks," hinted that she intended to see her mother "at a hotel."

The "freaks" hope she'll come back soon.

Doctor Writes of Wife's Relief from HAY FEVER

DISCOMFORT

Dr. Hitchcock, Retired Medical Inspector of the New York City Dept. of Health, wrote in November, 1931:

"Dr. Fugate's Prescription for hay fever was taken by my wife, who had been a sufferer for 25 years.

"The relief was prompt. For the first time she did not experience any of the discomfort for which hay fever is noted.

"If you suffer from hay fever or bronchial asthma symptoms, try the prescription which has brought relief to thousands of sufferers.

Edwin F. Hitchcock, M. D.

Two years later Dr. Hitchcock wrote that he is still prescribing Dr. Fugate's Prescription to his patients afflicted with either hay fever or bronchial asthma.

If you suffer from hay fever or bronchial asthma symptoms, try the prescription which has brought relief to thousands of sufferers.

Anne had run away from Antioch college in Ohio. She was found in Bernard Rosen's side-show and announced in no uncertain terms that she intended to remain there because "I can learn more in show business than I'll ever learn in college."

The 21-year-old girl's mother is reported to have hurried on here from Chicago to plead with her daughter, however, and yesterday Anne disappeared from the show. No one seemed to know where the meeting with her mother was taking place.

But Anne, taking leave of her friends among the 'freaks, hinted that she intended to see her mother "at a hotel."

The 'freaks hope she'll come back soon.

Doctor Writes of Wife's Relief from

HAY FEVER DISCOMFORT

Dr. Hitchcock, Retired Medical Inspector of the New York City Dept. of Health, wrote in November, 1931:

"Dr. Fugate's Prescription for hay fever was taken by my wife, who had been a sufferer for 25 years. 'The relief was prompt. For the first time she did not experience any of the discomfort for which hay fever is noted. I will be pleased to inform all hay fever sufferers who come to my attention of your most excellent remedy.'"

Edwin F. Hitchcock, M. D.

*Two years later Dr. Hitchcock wrote that he is still prescribing Dr. Fugate's Prescription to his patients afflicted with either hay fever or bronchial asthma. If you suffer from hay fever or bronchial asthma symptoms, try the prescription which has brought relief to thousands of sufferers.
